

Not Suitable for Family Viewing by Vicki Grant

I know you would all want to be Robin Schwartz. She has everything a girl could want: clothing, money, a beautiful place to live, and a mother who is an international T.V. star. Her mom is a talk show host who is loved all over the world. You would think that Robin would be happy with not a care in the world. She isn't. Robin is depressed. She feels ugly when she compares herself to her mom. She has only one friend, the daughter of their housekeeper. Robin is a 17-year-old girl who sits in a dark room watching re-runs of her mother's show. What's wrong with her? Even she does not know. Then Robin finds something. Something her mother has hidden. It is a ring - a high school football ring that is engraved with the following words - Port Minton High School Panthers. Along with the ring is an old picture. It looks like it was taken during a class trip. There are a bunch of kids leaning against a lady. There is a boulder and a beach in the background. Her mom is in the picture. There are names on the back of the picture. These are names Robin has never heard. Robin's mother is hiding something. Her official biography says nothing about this place. Robin makes a decision. She will go to Port Minton and find out more about the ring, the picture, and why her mother has been hiding this part of her life. She finds out that Port Minton is in Nova Scotia. Robin has her own money. She is supposed to spend the summer with her dad, but he will believe any lie she tells him. Her mom is so busy she knows that she will not even phone her dad once to see how she is. She will just take off and spend the summer trying to discover her mom's secret. Why did she hide this ring and picture in an old chair? What did her mother not want her to know? Robin goes to Port Minton and finds that it has few inhabitants and the high school has been closed for quite a few years. She of course gives everyone a fake name and a fake story of why she is there. She also meets Levi. Levi is cute and so darn nice that Robin can't imagine why, for some strange reason, he likes her.
